Röko acquires a majority of ETB Technologies Ltd

Röko has agreed to acquire a majority of the shares of ETB Technologies Ltd (ETB), a leading independent IT hardware refurbishment company located in Scotland. ETB specialises in refurbishment and resale of pre-owned servers, storage arrays and networking equipment. ETB sells products to more than 70 countries worldwide and has revenues of ca 18 MEUR.

ETB was established in 2001 by Nick Stapleton and Russ Tandy. Post-completion Nick will remain both shareholder and Managing Director as well as continue as a member of the Board of ETB. The investment in ETB is Röko's 17th since the company was founded. ETB further represents the fifth investment in the UK and the first in Scotland.

Please visit www.etb-tech.com for more information regarding ETB and www.roko.se for more information regarding Röko. If you have any questions, please contact:
